

THREE WISE MEN

Newsletter for Pre- Primary

From the Headmistress's Desk

The foundational years of learning are a time of joy, discovery, and growth. It has been our pleasure to offer wonderful opportunities for our young learners to explore, enjoy, and, most importantly, learn in this academic session.

'The Three Wise Men' is a glimpse into how children have engaged in activities that spark creativity and curiosity, helping them to connect with their environment, celebrate festivals & occasions, and gently ease into their journey at school.

It's always heartening to witness how beautifully children adapt to their surroundings—making new friends, building relationships with teachers, and finding joy in exploring their classrooms.

By now, I'm sure your little ones have come home with stories of their day at school, sharing their moments of joy and discovery with you. This newsletter offers you a sneak peek into their "home away from home" here at RSJMS.

Happy reading!

World of Colours

Engaging young minds into the world of colours is an exciting and educational experience.

The Nursery children were introduced to 3 Primary colours through a 'Dress-Up day' where our little ones wore red, yellow and blue coloured clothes creating a colourful and vibrant atmosphere in the classroom.

Colours were incorporated during snack time too as children brought red apples, yellow bananas, and blueberries, helping them learn colours while enjoying their snacks.

Show and Tell is a cornerstone activity in early childhood education as it plays a crucial role in enhancing the learning experience and holistic development of young children. This practice helps children develop clear communication skills, expands their vocabulary and general awareness.

It is a powerful confidence-building activity as it encourages children to express themselves more without any inhibition.
